County Sets New Service Guidelines

A major overhaul of Orange County's methods and procedures in assisting its poor, aged and needy was in the political machinery this week, following a $10,000 evaluation report released two and a half months ago conducted by the University of California at Irvine Graduate School of Administration, which blasted former methods.

Critical of Orange County's procedure in handing out taxpayer money revenue sharing funds, some of which found its way into Placentia, the report spoke out strongly against "grantsmanship", in which applicants seeking taxpayer money were reported to present ill-defined programs with unreasonable claims.

Also coming in for criticism was the scope of the programs and methods of evaluating their success.

At stake was $3.1 million in revenue sharing funds which have already been allocated over the county before a freeze was put into effect when the critical report was first commissioned.

Another $3.3 million of the federal revenue sharing funds remains to be distributed, with the new guidelines issued last week and approved by the Orange County Board of Supervisors.

The new tightened program will involve a $70,000 fund to provide a basic structure for future procedures with two research analysts, staff and office equipment provided.

The overall effort will entail such aspects as first determining the needs of people in the county and setting up priorities, which the first report highly recommended.

These would be used as guidelines in allocating the social revenue sharing funds.

The human services priority list included in the report specifies in order: general medical and health care, housing assistance for low and moderate income groups, information and referral services, child care-day care, job training and vocational rehabilitation, community-based medical care, drug abuse prevention, adequate food and nutrition for low income groups and delinquency prevention.

Others are recreation and social programs for youth, legal aid, treatment for and rehabilitation of juvenile offenders, recreation and social programs for senior citizens, delinquency diversion, emergency medical care, crime prevention and diversion, group homes-halfway homes for youth, home health care services including homemaker services, family counseling, dental care, financial counseling and nutrition education.

Expected to be considered for any additional granting of revenue sharing funds are Placentia's two new community centers. The

Edward Backs Critical

Edward P. Backs, son of a pioneer California family and Placentia's great benefactor, is in a deep coma and failing rapidly, his private physician Dr. G. Wendell Olson, of Fullerton, reported Tuesday.

Dr. Olson said that Backs, who with his wife Angeline Kraemer Backs have made the citizens of Placentia awards of their numerous gifts, is no longer responding to medical treatment but is losing ground to the "vicissitudes of advanced age." Backs is 78 and would be 79 March 30.

Having entered a deep coma following two weeks in intensive care, his condition has gradually worsened and he is steadily weaker, Dr. Olson reported.

Backs, who with his wife Angeline Kraemer Backs, another descendent of California founders, has bestowed lavish gifts on Placentia citizens, first entered Anaheim Memorial Hospital complaining of phlebitis and arthritis in his legs.

Specialists were called in to administer to his ailments and for a time it was thought that he would recover, but his condition suddenly worsened.

GOLDENROD PARK looked like this a few short weeks ago as Mark Bruck, a student at Ruby Drive Elementary School sits patiently waiting. Workmen were finished with their job this week, curvilinar sidewalks are in, trees and grass planted, a sandlot ready for use of neighborhood youngsters and the park area set in natural mounding, to offer protection and privacy to adjacent homes. A second phase of development will provide a tiny tot yard, rest rooms, picnic tables and areas for cooking. The park is in a section of homes north of Alta Vista Street and east of Kraemer Boulevard.

Local Areas Approved For Insurance

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that Placentia has been accepted into the National Flood Insurance Program.

This permits individual property owners located in defined flood hazard areas in the La Jolla section south of Crowther Avenue and Atwood area south of Orangethorpe Avenue to buy flood insurance protection at federally subsidized rates.

Since flood insurance is now available, the law requires that it must be purchased by owners of property in areas identified as flood-prone by HUD, in order to be eligible for virtually all forms of federal or federally-related financial assistance for building purposes in those areas.

This would include FHA or VA mortgages, loans from the Small Business Administration, or loans from any federally-regulated or supervised banks and savings and loan institutions. Property owners would be ineligible for these loans if Placentia had not acted to join the

Congressman Patterson Seeks Legislation

Congressman Jerry M. Patterson, (D.-Calif. 38th), former Placentia City Attorney announced today, his intention to introduce legislation to carry out two important goals of the Democratic Caucus economic program: to lower interest rates; and to provide emergency housing for low income and middle income families.

The legislation will direct the Federal Reserve to increase the money supply in the first half of 1975 at an annual rate of no less than six percent. This will bring about an adequate supply of money and result in lower interest rates.

"In 1974 the Federal Reserve restricted growth to less than two percent. That action seriously raised interest rates and contributed significantly to the present recession," Patterson remarked.

Under the proposed legislation credit will be allocated to, "national priority uses," such as essential and productive capital investment and low and middle income housing. If adopted, this improved allocation of credit will result in lower interest rates for these desirable uses and high interest rates for inflationary uses.

The proposed legislation will also authorize HUD to subsidize interest rates on FHA, VA or conventional mortgages to reduce mortgage interest payments from the present 9-1/2 or 10 per cent down to 6 per cent. This subsidy will be available to families with an income under $16,000 a year and could average a savings of $650 per year per family.

"An adequate supply of money and improved allocation of credit with lower interest rates is the boost the economy needs now", noted Patterson. "It will counter the present housing depression which has literally put people out of work in Orange County. This legislation will work to increase the number of jobs available as well as provide the means for young families to once again realize the dream of owning their own home."

Homeowners In Settlement Of Brea-Union Oil Case

Possibility of an out-of-court settlement in the case of the Placentia Golden Homeowners versus the city of Brea, Moreland Development Company and Union Oil, loomed Tuesday as Pomona attorney Timothy Burrell announced a tentative agreement.

The lawsuit was launched over a proposed industrial park, just within the city of Brea boundaries, which would abut the $60,000 to $70,000 Placentia homes. The area is north of Golden Avenue and between Kraemer Boulevard and Valencia Avenue.

Burrell, a member of Young, Henrie and McCarthy attorneys of Pomona, described the agreement as very favorable to all parties in the suit.

Terms have been tentatively agreed upon, Burrell explained, but actual papers are in the process of being approved and signed.

The industrial Park, which Moreland Development Company, a subsidiary of Union Oil, plans to build, will not proceed as originally proposed. The subdivision, variance and certain other development permits that Moreland Development Company received from the city of Brea, will all be considered void, Burrell stated.

"Moreland is expected to reapply to the city of Brea for a new permit and prepare new environmental impact reports before any construction is allowed," Burrell explained.

The homeowners association will suspend the lawsuit that challenges the approval of the industrial park and drop its challenge to a commercial zone on the corners of the property, (Imperial Boulevard at Kraemer Boulevard and at Valencia Avenue), Burrell added.

"The agreement has been put into rough draft form and tentatively acccepted by the attorneys of each party," Burrell continued. "however, formal approval will have to be made by each party to the litigation."

Burrell said further that it was hoped the city of Brea might take immediate action on their agreement in executive session, possibly Tuesday night.

The meeting of minds followed several months of effort on the part of the Placentia homeowners, who have gone through lengthy procedures in Brea in protest of some of the conditions surrounding the 83.5 acre industrial tract on their borders, but in another city.

The court case followed in protest of the results.

New Sports Project To Be Launched

A monumental effort to provide funding for any youngster who wishes to participate in a year-round program of sports, will soon be launched by the Placentia Athletic Club.

As explained by members of the club's board, a first fund raiser has been scheduled for Saturday, February 8 in the Parish Hall of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

There will be a live band for dancing from 8 p.m. until midnight, followed by a menudo dinner.

The Saturday party will be the first step in raising a many-thousands of dollars fund which will allow any youngster in the Valencia area, who wishes, to participate in year-round play of soccer, basketball, soft ball and football.

Mrs. Gloris Lopez and Mrs. Mellie Cisneros, members of the board said that many of the youngsters in the designated area are unable to enter into other sports programs available because of lack of funds for uniforms, equipment and other essentials needed for sports activity.

The concept behind the new effort is to take all youngsters in the section into the planned programs with no cost to the family, eliminating any kind of economic discrimination.

The group is currently planning ahead to next year's football season and has secured the volunteer services of Fred Workman, head coach from Valencia High School, who will coordinate the project.

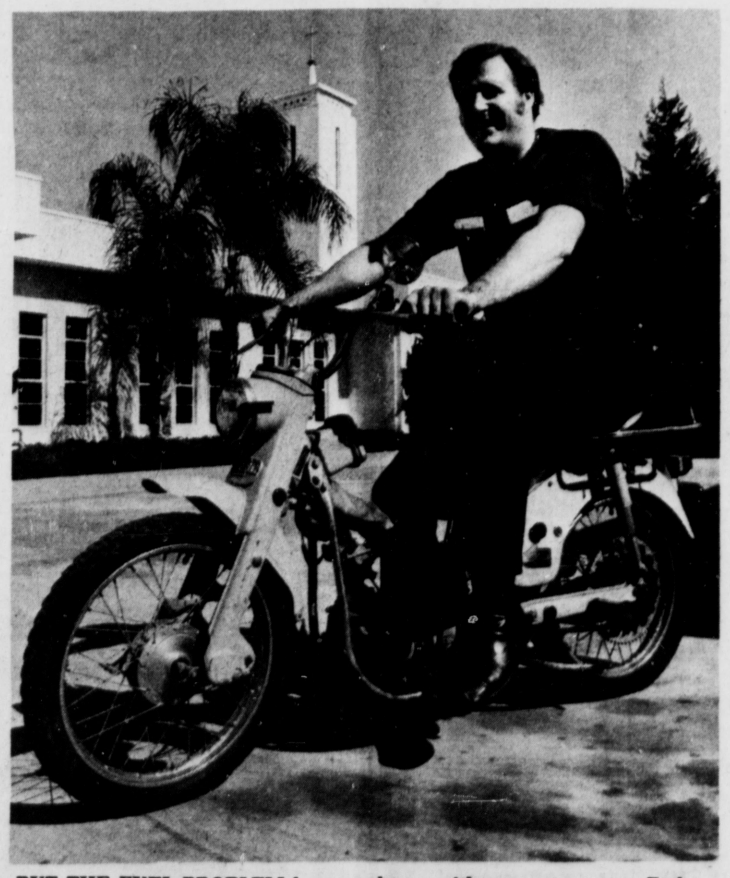
A first meeting of the Valencia Youth Football will be held on Friday, February 7 at the Whitten Community Center, 900 Melrose Avenue, Placentia.

Anyone interested in participating as a coach is invited to attend. Coaches' clinics will be conducted later and no football experience is required.

For more information on the program or to buy tickets to the dance, which are $2.50 per person, call Mrs. Lopez at 524-2798; Mr. Workman at 524-4316 or Ysabel Cisneros at 630-2595.

Other activities for raising additional funds for the ambitious project will be announced at a later date, the group advised.

No Energy Shortage



BUT THE FUEL PROBLEM has caught up with everyone...even Father Norm. Popular Parish Priest, Father Norman Supancheck, who administers to 2,500 families in the St. Joseph Catholic Church area, travels throughout the neighborhoods in a variety of vehicles...van, car, bicycle and this Honda. Among other duties he visits 50 families every Friday where there is some special need. With his tall frame rather dwarfing the motorcycle, Father Norm, says, however, it is a satisfactory way to travel and gets several more miles to the gallon. The Honda's name...what else..."Josephine."

Garden Grove Eyes Airport

The Inter-County Airport Authority, successor to the Chino Hills Airport Authority, was in strong motion this week as it picked up another large city on its side of the ledger...Garden Grove.

Action was taken by the Garden Grove City Council in a unanimous decision to further investigate joining ICAA with their City Attorney expected to present an agreement before the council on February 11.

The endorsement closely followed that made by the city of Santa Ana, which in a split vote approved an alliance with the Airport Authority, adding a number of conditions and stipulations.

Colonel John Lowman, Assistant Project Director of ICAA said Tuesday that the conditions are completely agreeable to the authority and that his office also is providing information to other cities in a general area in and out of Orange County who are requesting it.

Mrs. Carolyn Ewing, Mayor Pro Tem of the city of Yorba Linda said she will urge her city council to seek help from Orange County Supervisors in calling a meeting of north Orange County cities to present opposition to any plans to build an airport in the Chino Hills.

Cities expected to be appraised of the action would include Placentia, Yorba Linda, Fullerton, Brea, La Habra and possibly Anaheim.

Representatives of PATCH (Prevent Airport Through Chino Hills) headquartered in Yorba Linda, said that their organization is considering legal action "at the proper time." One firm of attorneys confirmed Tuesday that they have been consulted by the group.

George Hayward, PATCH board member, who spoke to the Yorba Linda City Council Monday night said that his group will be making appearances when further progression of contracts is brought up before the Santa Ana and the Garden Grove City Councils.

"We're going to scream and holler," he confirmed.

The last cities to join Stanton and Chino in the Inter-County Airport Authority may have caught dissidents by surprise as no

City To Negotiate For Paramedics

Paramedics, a long debated subject in Placentia and an issue in the last city council election, may become an Orange County service for this city with its center at Fire Station 10 in Yorba Linda.

A 14-page report submitted to the Placentia City Council bears the recommendation that Placentia cooperate in the county's Paramedic Program, which would not provide a center in this city, but would offer service from Yorba Linda. The city council approved the beginning of negotiations.

Joining that program, which is expected to become operational in September, 1975, is expected to save Placentia taxpayers $113,755 the first year, costing Placentia possibly $85,120 by contract.

Other possibilities explored in the report would be for Placentia to develop its own program (one unit to become operational would be $198,875); continuing the present level of service (the city is now providing basic rescue services including cardio-pulmonary resuscitation); a contract with the city of Fullerton; a contract with the city of Anaheim; contracting with he county, Anaheim and Fullerton; developing a joint program with Placentia-Linda Hospital; developing a joint program with ambulance company; a joint program with Brea or hiring trained personnel.

It was explained during the discussions that chief duties of a paramedic corps would be to report after fire and police units first arrive and to stabilize the patient by doctor's instruction and prepare him for transportation to the hospital of his choice. Paramedics would not provide the transportation.

The county program would provide 26 paramedic units throughout the county with 5 minute response time average. Personnel must receive 16 weeks of training, and a population base of 60,000 to 70,000 is necessary to keep paramedic personnel at peak efficiency.

Combining Placentia and Yorba Linda would provide an appropriate sized population, but would give Placentia no local control over the program administration.

A later contract for paramedic service might be advantageous for Placentia, the report points out, when Fullerton establishes a second paramedic center at Station No. 5, Yorba Linda Boulevard near State College. This is two or three years in the future. Presently Fullerton has only one paramedic unit to accommodate a population of 90,000.

A contract with Anaheim also might be available in the future but Anaheim at this time does not have a paramedic program and estimates it is one to two years away.

Disadvantages to the city developing its own program include the high cost, the amount of training time required for personnel and the fact the city is too small to properly accommodate the program.

Another possibility suggested for future view would be to contract with the county, Anaheim and Fullerton for a more comprehensive program, but these services are not now available.

Other programs not given high priority at this time would be a program coordinated with Placentia-Linda Hospital; a joint program with an ambulance company and one with the city of Brea, which currently has no program.

Donna Myers Wrist Wrestles To World Title

Donna Myers, Placentia resident, who weighs 119 pounds, now holds the World Title as Women's Champion Wrist Wrestler.

The petite blond competed in the finals in the world competition held last October in Petaluma, California, viewed Sunday on national television.

Mrs. Myers, whose husband also is a wrist wrestler contender, also holds the national wrist wrestling title for women, which she won in competition in Las Vegas in May.

Chris Myers was in the men's lightweight division in the world tournament winning as far as the semi-finals. He lost in the final round to Ted Pollack, champion for three years.

Mrs. Myers defeated Dawn Otten, an Oregon State College student, to gain the world crown. Mrs. Myers, after her national triumph, has been seen on several national television show, including Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, the Dinah Shore Show, the Mike Douglas Show, What's My Line and many others.

PLACENTIA'S BICENTENNIAL Celebration is already in the planning stages as a council-appointed committee started preparations for the commemoration of Placentia's 50th birthday and the nation's 200th in 1976. Elected president of the committee is Cecil Rospaw [center] with vice president Marvin Reid [right]. Ed Houston on the left is treasurer and Jeri Reed will be secretary for the 25-member committee.

Airport

protesting speakers appeared before either city council when their individual actions were taken.

Mrs. Mary Dinndorf, Anaheim, Secretary of PATCH said in her opinion the Chino Hills Airport is "a rip-off of taxpayers money."

"The cost of the proposed airport has been mentioned as $300,000,000. This is the price that was quoted over 18 months ago. Today the cost wouldbe at least 50 per cent greater. Who will finance this?

"If an application for federal funds to make a study for an airport to be located somewhere in Orange County is made, the funds would not go to the sponsoring cities," Mrs. Dinndorf continues. "They do not have the authority to make such a study. They may obtain a planning grant to plan an airport at a specific site and the airport must be constructed in three years.

"If Chino Hills were chosen, the Orange County Board of Supervisors, the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) and the state of California would have to approve the location," Mrs. Dinndorf claimed.

Col. Lowman, speaking for ICAA said that when the authority finally selects a site for an airport that federal funds will be sought for the study. The ICAA is considering ten airport locations.

A previous statement by Congressman Charles Wiggins declared that the group would not be eligible for FAA funds but Lowman said he thought funding for a study through that source would be no problem.

The addition of the city of Garden Grove to the roster brings the fourth largest city in Orange County on the record, following Santa Ana, the largest. Anaheim withdrew from the Chino Hills Airport Authority after a change in city government, at the last election leading to the demise of that entity.

Council Acts To Assist Homeowners

A noise study prepared by the Orange County Health Department, may cushion the affects of major industrial construction and resulting vehicular traffic in the city of Brea, on Placentia homeowners whose expensive homes are adjacent to the proposed 83.5 acre Brea industrial development.

The proposed construction project by Moreland Development Company, a subsidiary of Union Oil Company, lies at the northern Placentia border between Kraemer Boulevard and Valencia Avenue.

A first look at the county's noise ordinance by the Placentia City Council brought withdrawal pains as some council members found the conditions too restrictive. A later appeal by Roy Lewis, president of the Placentia Golden Homeowners Association, however, brought unanimous affirmative action as council agreed to send a formal request to the city of Brea, on suplication of the restrictions.

Conducted at the request of Edwin T. Powell, Placentia City Administrator, the Orange County community noise evaluation sought to "determine the probable noise impact on existing and proposed residential units in Placentia if proposed industrial and commercial complexes are developed north and northeast of the residential areas along the Placentia-Brea city boundaries."

Covered in the evaluation were motor vehicles and mechanical equipment to be used during the construction phase; ultimate vehicular traffic conditions projected for Kraemer Boulevard adjacent to and south of the proposed industrial complex; ultimate vehicular traffic conditions projected for street A proposed within the industrial complex; parking lot, delivery, vehicle loading and plant processing activity at those industrial buildings and or areas adjacent to and directly north of the residential area and south of the proposed commercial complex and ultimate vehicular traffic conditions projected for Valencia Avenue adjacent to the residential area and south of the proposed commercial complex.

The report showed that some residents of the city of Placentia will be exposed to high noise levels during the construction phase and to a lesser degree during the commercial complex construction phase. (Properties on the corners of Imperial Highway and Kraemer Boulevard and Valencia Avenue).

Also that nearby residents may be exposed to unacceptable noise impacts created by ultimate vehicular traffic activities on Kraemer Boulevard, street A and in the parking lot area behind the industrial buildings immediately adjacent to the Placentia residences.

In addition, that a proposed mitigating measure which would limit noise from the completed project to the standards specified in the existing Brea City Noise Ordinance, appears to be inadequate. "This is because the Noise Ordinance standards are well above demonstrated annoyance thresholds," the study states.

Placentia City Council members at first balked at the stringency of the recommendations, voting unanimously to shelve the staff report. The later consideration, however, altered their decision.

Minutes of the first meeting report that Mayor Robert Lyons was critical of the report as "very volatile and one of the reasons is that it is wrong, or it is wrong in an objective sense of living in a city."

The minutes report the mayor: "Any study that measures the noise from the street, if you live near a street you can hear the noise. I only object to it from a scientific standpoint."

Councilman George DeJesus, as reported in the minutes, stated that this type of cost goes back to the people and objected to recommending something of this type.

The meeting minutes continue: "With the Moreland development it seems as if it would be a short term level and have to accept it as that. The people in that neighborhood have to recognize that noise was in existence when they moved into that tract." DeJesus is quoted.

Mayor Lyons is quoted in the minutes as saying he felt that council would be off base to protect Placentia from the noise of construction.

County Sets Guidelines

Chester Whitten Community Center in the La Jolla neighborhood and the L. Jack Gomez Community Center in Atwood.

The UCI report mentions the Whitten Center and points out that only the building was requested for funding and that no program was submitted.

Placentia since that time has been one of the forerunning cities in Orange County to inaugurate a Social Services Department, approved by the Placentia City Council.

The UCI report states that Placentia "intends to apply for program funds once the freeze on social program revenue sharing funds is lifted."

Following the new guidelines approved by Orange County Supervisors, city-sponsored programs could be funded by 50 per cent, with municipalities providing the additional allocations.

Also receiving revenue sharing funds in the city of Placentia on the first $3 million sweep were Alpha Center and Casa Placentia. Both are private groups using public funds. Their allocations amounted to $60,000.

Alpha Center is generally considered to be a drug abuse program and Casa Placentia a referral service, which does not provide a structured program but rather refers people to other resources.

Also included in the action of the Supervisors were two county-wide programs, the 911 emergency telephone number and a county-wide paramedics program, in which the Placentia City Council recently voted to enter negotiations.

SEVEN WERE INJURED, but all lived in a head-on collision between two station wagons on Orangethorpe Avenue Tuesday night. The Anaheim resident, driver of the 1975 Mercury above was booked on felony drunk driving charges. The Jose Lopez Leon family, including three children and a friend, were in the other car. Mrs. Leon suffered a broken nose but the others were later released from Placentia-Linda Hospital. The accident occurred between Rose Drive and Miller Avenue.

On Illegal Aliens

Letters To The Editor

(The following letter is being mailed to county, state and national representatives of this area, Mrs. Scarpa advises.

Dear Sir:

Recently you received a report titled, "The Illegal Alien in Placentia" and a glowing endorsement, indeed a resolution supporting the report, from the City Council of Placentia.

As a citizen, resident, and taxpayer of this city, I wish to go on record as being opposed to the recommendations made in this report. I also object to the 'prejudicial approach of the Placentia Police Department to the problem.

If you accept seriously their recommendations and work toward the ultimate implementing of those recommendations then we will soon be assured of living under a police state. The recommendations made by a Police Department and endorsed so eagerly by the Placentia City Council are briefly outlined below with the reasons I am opposing or agreeing with them. I can agree with only one of their recommendations.

Recommendation: (1)close the border.

Answer: How? With a Berlin Wall?

Rec: (2) Coordination and communication between all agencies dealing with aliens. Agencies listed are the Welfare Department, driver's license department, and Social Security Department.

Answer: Can you imagine applying for a driver's license and waiting while your papers are checked and other agencies verify your legality? Or does the recommendation apply only to those with Spanish surnames? This would be discriminatory and we would all suffer from such a "police state".

Rec: (3) Employers should be penalized when they knowingly hire illegal aliens.

Answer: This, in effect, would make policemen of all employers. More than 90% of all businesses go broke in their first year. Many times it is the direct result of unfair governmental regulations. The Rodino Bill is in Congress now and would enforce this recommendation if passed. It should be defeated. The Mexican minority would suffer greatly from it. The normal inclination of any employer would be to avoid hiring Mexicans. Employers don't have time to be policemen or immigration officers.

Rec: (4) Active prosecution of those who profit in the smuggling of illegal aliens, and more severe penalties.

Answer: I agree. No one should be allowed to profit from the dreams of a poor man and his family, or to turn those dreams into nightmares.

Rec: (5) State and Federal Legislatures should be encouraged by the City Council to make the above recommendations into law.

Answer: No. No. No. See answers to 1,2,3, and 4.

Rec: (6) Legal ways should be found to make Placentia unattractive to the illegal alien. Local ordinances should be vigorously enforced.

Answer: This recommendation clearly sets out to discriminate legally against the illegal alien. The Police Department should be ashamed to make such a recommendation and City Council of Placentia erred grieviously in endorsing it.

REC: (7) The City Council should urge adoption of federal legislation to authorize state, county, and local law enforcement agencies to enforce immigration and naturalization laws and to reimburse these agencies for those services.

Answer: The separation of state and federal government is clearly outlined in the United States Constitution. The federal government should retain control of the problem and the situation. We don't need any more bureaucracies to feed off the human misery of the illegal alien.

It seems to me that this report endorsed by the City Council of Placentia is simply an attempt to cover up their failure in meeting the poverty conditions so prevalent in the Atwood and La Jolla areas of our city. The leadership of Placentia erred, in my opinion, when they failed to build the 2.6 million dollar Civic Center in the poverty area.

Now the City Council is in the process of compounding their errors by purchasing 5 acres next to the Civic Center at $85,000 an acre. They have done nothing to alleviate the problems of our poor except to blame the federal government. This latest report is an unbelievably crude attempt to shift the blame and cover their lack of good leadership.

I urge you to study "The Illegal Alien in Placentia" report and consider carefully the consequences if such ill-advised recommendations are made into law. If you agree with my conclusions, I hope you, as a lawmaker and guardian of our precious freedom, will advise the City Council that you cannot support or endorse the Alien Report or its recommendations. Further, I hope you will use your office and your power to fight the Rodino Bill.

Thank you for your consideration of this letter. I would appreciate being advised of your actions in regard to the illegal alien.

Sincerely,
Bonnie L. Scarpa

Petersen Seeks PUSD Post

Motivated by a four-year-old heart tugger named Amy Jo, Martin J. Petersen, a student at California State University, Fullerton, is running for a position on the Board of Trustees of the Placentia Unified School District.

"Mine is a unique candidacy," he affirms, "not born of malcontent, but more positive."

With an interest in his daughter Amy Jo's future education, Petersen decided to enter the March 4 race, in which nine candidates are seeking three seats. The three incumbents also are running.

Petersen, who is majoring in management, behavioral science, is concerned with the quality of education in PUSD and with communications.

He is backing the $20 million bond issue the district is seeking to continue its building program.

On the possible annexation of the Yorba Linda School District to the Placentia Unified, Petersen says he is "on the side of the students." He realizes, however, the financial implications.

"I believe that to have students bused through Placentia and into Fullerton is an unacceptable hardship," he outlines.

He believes that it is up to the Yorba Linda District and the Fullerton Union High School District to solve the problem.

"Fullerton and Yorba Linda should work out the financial details. I am in favor of what will benefit all the students."

Petersen is impressed with the administrative staff of the Placentia District and believes that one of the great advantages enjoyed by PUSD is the fact that it is a good school district and therefore attracts high quality personnel.

He is further concerned with the maximum creativity of each student and supports individualized instruction and individualized programs.

He would encourage as small as possible class sizes.

MARTIN PETERSEN, a student at California State University at Fullerton, majoring in management, behavioral science, is running for election March 4, for a seat on the Board of Trustees of the Placentia Unified School District. Mr. and Mrs. Petersen have one daughter, a pre-schooler.

Petersen, who was born in Santa Monica and received his first schooling there, was at one time branch manager of a savings and loan company.

In a prepared statement on his candidacy and concerning the $20 million bond issue, Petersen explains:

"I believe that most Placentians demand adequate facilities to house new students as they are interjected into the system.

"To force double sessions or instructions in temporary and inefficient structures will be disappointing to the many parents who moved to Placentia expecting a higher quality of education for their children.

"Without bond money, unacceptable proposals become increasingly probable. It is folly for one to believe that student population will permanently cease to increase."

Continuing, Petersen states: "I support the utilization of every possible means to reward the instructor who is a proven producer."

Petersen adds: "Several parents of Rio Vista Elementary School students have signed a petition to deannex a portion of the PUSD to Anaheim. While the PUSD Board of Education's formal position against deannexation appears to be rational and logical in nature, the board's decision is termed to be merely an emotional one. I support every effort of communication and reconciliation as opposed to anger and polarization.

"In these tough times, we tend to forget that the school district is on one side: that of the student. A school district is mandated to respond with every available resource to the needs of students and parents. My election is the resource which will meet these needs."

Construction On Palm Drive

The Orange County Sanitation District has awarded a $539,462 contract to Mark Dakovich of Brea for the construction of a sewer trunk line along Palm Drive beginning at Carbon Creek Channel and running to Kraemer Blvd.

The one mile reach of thirty-nine inch sewer will serve to eliminate a sewer force main and pumping station located near Palm Drive and Cedarlawn Drive, and add capacity to serve areas in Placentia, Fullerton and Brea.

The contract allows six months construction time but it is anticipated that the contractor will complete his work within a significantly shorter time span barring inclement weather conditions.

The Sanitation District reports that the contractor will commence work on or about February 3, 1975, at Carbon Creek Channel and will work westerly towards Kraemer Boulevard. The sewer line will be twenty feet deep in places to elininate the pump station and will generally follow the street centerline. Two lanes of travel, one each way, are required to be maintained throughout.

It is expected that some inconveniences in the form of restricted access, noise and dust will be inevitable, but we hope through Sanitation District supervision that the contractor can keep this to a minimum. Motorists may wish to use alternate routes during the construction interim.

Storm Drain Project

Effort to arrange an agreement between the cities of Anaheim and Placentia for construction of a storm drain at Placentia Avenue and La Jolla Road where the two cities meet, is now underway.

A tentative agreement has been approved by the Placentia City Council for the joint project to be funded 30 per cent by Placentia and 70 per cent by Anaheim.

Estimated cost of the development is $95,000 Ben Minamide, City Engineer reports.

The construction, if approved by both cities would correct a surplus of water which has no adequate escape from the Placentia side into Anaheim, and has created problems for Anaheim homeowners.

"Because of the now existing drainage problem, we are at the point where serious consideration must be given to curtailment of any building development activity which would contribute additional runoff unless drainage relief is within sight," the Placentia report states.

The city of Placentia relied on the fact, Minamide explained, that the Anaheim Storm Drain Master Plan shows construction of a storm drain to relieve the intersection on State College Boulevard and Via Burton.

"We are told by the city of Anaheim that this storm drain line has a very low priority and would not be constructed for approximately 10 years", Minamide continued.

"Because of these combinations of factors, it is strongly felt that we should pursue a storm drain project along Placentia Avenue on a cooperative and immediate basis."

Placentia's share of the construction would be $28,500.

Small Claims Court Threatened To Collect $38.65

An alleged unbusinesslike manner of conducting official city business led to an awkward confrontation Tuesday night, as city officials sought to take a former candidate for city council to small claims court for a sum of $38.65.

The embarrassing series of events centered around the candidacy of Joshua White,

White was the only one of seven candidates to sign for a candidate's statement of qualifications to be inserted in the sample ballot mailed out to voters.

White said he signed a paper asking for a $100 deposit for the cost of the statement. The form also very nebulously made him liable for any additional expense incurred in the printing of the statement, but White said that he was not aware of it at that time.

After the election, White said that he was called to City Hall to view his extra qualifications statements which were left over. "There must have been between 1,000 to 2,000 of them," he recalls. "The election was over, they were of no use then, but I remember I asked to take a few of them with me."

The remainder, he assumes, were destroyed.

White said also that several people had complained to him that they had not received the statement in their ballots.

The additional bill for the printing cost came still later, White recalls that he was simply asked informally for the additional money.

White's campaign committee and especially the treasurer asked for an itemized bill.

This request along with a petition for a legal ruling was passed back to City Hall by White. Neither request, according to White, was fulfilled until December 18...more than eight months after the election...when the bill, without explanation was presented. However, the legal opinion his committee had requested as to whether they could, within the law, ask donors to White's campaign, who had already given the legal limit of $25, for additional funds, or whether they must solicit only from those below the limit.

Thus, his committee and strongest backers, would be powerless to help him pay the left over bills.

The next that anybody knew that the matter had proceeded further was when White returned to his apartment late Tuesday evening and found that he had been mailed a city council agenda. It was from that that he learned about the court case.

White said he rushed from his apartment near the new City Hall and found the item on the agenda had already been acted upon. After a long wait, White was permitted to speak, but was not heard through a complete explanation. The council rescinded their previous action to take the matter to small claims court, by granting him two days grace. Councilman L. Jack Gomez, however, was unwilling to go along with the other members of the council and voted against the reprieve.

The bill was paid by White's campaign committee, whose checks require two signatures, on Thursday morning.

Nelson Coleman, one of White's campaign committee members, said that he found the city action impossible to understand.

"We asked for an accounting of the bill and we did not receive a thing until December 18. We still have not received a legal opinion of our perogatives in collecting additional monies and we still do not know why the bill was $138.65 instead of $150. or $200 or some lesser amount."

White, who is well known in the city, having founded the local Jaycee chapter here, served as vice chairman of the Placentia Tomorrow committee and is a deacon in the Presbyterian Church. He said he was most startled that no one in City Hall had apprised him of the impending court action.

"Why didn't they extend the courtesy of a phone call that this was being placed on the 'agenda?'" he asked. The agenda had been mailed to him the day before the meeting, scarcely allowing him time to receive it, he pointed out.

White said that his arriving home in time to read the agenda had been something of a happy mistake.

Monday, White was in Sacramento as a special guest at the inauguration of Edmund Brown, Jr. as governor of California. He flew back late Monday in order to attend a 7:30 a.m. breakfast at the Garden Grove Community Church Tuesday, launching the March of Dimes Week of Concern, for which White is Orange County chairman.

He also appeared on a local television show Tuesday and had appointments through the day. He said that he was so tired Tuesday night that he rescheduled a late appointment to go home and rest. And he found the agenda.

"I had no intention of going home, but I was just too tired to work any longer."

White said this week he was also appalled to find that while the city had not made a payment on the bill attributed to him, although the city had $100 of the money for 11 months, he as also surprised to find that the city had not paid for the cost of the other city-wide election printing bill which amounted to $2,290.58.

Frank Dunnavant, Finance Director for the city, who was placed in charge of collecting the bill says: "Josh was given adequate notice. Our office was in no way wrong in what we did."

A first letter was written to White on May 2, 1974, Dunnavant said, informing him of the amount owed, but no statement from the company was enclosed.

The next correspondence was on December 17, 1974, informing White that the matter would be taken to the City Council at the January, 1975 meeting, but no mention was made of court action.

"He had three weeks to contact me if he was concerned," Dunnavant said. "He could have come in and inquired."

Dunnavant states that White did not ask for a billing statement. The additional charge for the printing, Dunnavant says was caused by the length of White's statement of qualifications. White appears not to know this even now.

"I have a motto in my office," White recalls. "I guess that is really what is responsible for my leaving work to go home to find the agenda. The motto says 'In all thy ways, acknowledge Him and He will direct thy paths'."

Original Double Decker, Bob's Big Boy, On Its Way Here

THE MOST RECENT Bob's Big Boy Restaurant looks like this, the same type building now under construction in Placentia. The Spanish style outlet at the corner of Kraemer and Yorba Linda Boulevards will provide a variety of family food including the nationally famous double deck Big Boy Hamburger which Bob's originated.

Bob's Big Boy, approximate number 771, is now under construction in Placentia, at Kraemer and Yorba Linda Boulevards, but it scarcely resembles the original Pantry built in Glendale in 1936.

The nationally famous Big Boy, the original double-deck hamburger, has meanwhile become a legend among millions of restaurant goers, the company states.

The company's founder, Robert C. "Bob" Wian, decided to make a career of the restaurant business while still in high school. Upon graduation he went to work in a restaurant learning every task possible in order to get the experience he would soon need.

In 1936 Bob Wian's dream materialized in the form of an old diner on the main street of his home town, Glendale. The price was $300 and, in order to raise it, Bob sold his most prized possession - his car. Along with this sacrifice went a 16 hour, seven day work week.

Scarcely after six months in business, Bob Wian founded the idea that was to become nationally famous. One evening some celebrating members of an orchestra stopped in and asked for something different than just a plain hamburger. Thinking for a moment, Bob sliced a bun twice to accomodate two patties of beef. He applied his special relish and fresh mayonnaise, added crisp lettuce, a slice of cheese and presented his innovation for aproval. The response was immediate and, as history shows, enduring. That's why Bob's is always referred to as the home of the original double-deck hamburger.

At the present time there are more than 700 franchised Big Boy restaurants located throughout 43 states and Canada. In addition there are over 70 Bob's Big Boy Family Restaurants in Southern California.

Bob's also has a retail food division which makes some of the same quality food served in Bob's restaurants available for home use. Bob's retail products have won 18 gold medals at the California State Fair for product excellence, and are found in food stores throughout California and Arizona.

THE TEN CENT CHEESEBURGER may never return but Bob's Big Boy, started in this building in Glendale in 1936, is now a national trademark. The original restaurant above seated ten people and soon expanded.

Old School House May Be Museum

One of Yorba Linda's old landmarks, a one room school house on Olinda Street, may be turned into a museum, Ralph Shook general manager of the Yorba Linda County Water District, revealed this week.

The building, which later served as headquarters for the Yorba Linda Mutual Water Company and still later as office for the Yorba Linda County Water District, is presently under short term lease.

The district's board of directors have "agreed to cooperate" with the Yorba Linda Service League if they can find a new location for the building, Shook said.

The directors met with league representatives recently to discuss how the building, built in 1911, might be converted into a museum featuring momentos and memorabalia of early Yorba Linda days.

Shook said the district might donate the building to the league if a suitable site can be found.

Mrs. James Matych, a league member, said the building was put up by local residents 64 years ago after the county schools superintendent refused to use county funds for a new school.

Yorba Linda parents were unhappy, she said, because their children were forced to walk three miles to the old Olinda School.

"The superintendent told them he would provide a teacher if they built the school, but that he wouldn't authorize county funds for it," Mrs. Matych said.

"Some people donated lumber, others money. It was the typical old one room school."

The building was sold a year later to the water district and served as district headquarters until 1972 when the new offices were built at 4622 Plumosa Drive.

Orientation For Parents Planned Here

A Parent Orientation Meeting has been scheduled for those Yorba Linda parents who will have children entering the ninth grade at Troy High School next September. This parent meeting will take place on February 6, at Troy High School Lecture Hall. The orientation is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Pre-registration will be held at the Yorba Linda Junior High School on February 5.

Brea Art Show

An exhibition titled Preview 75 opened Saturday, at the Brea Community Center, 500 S. Sievers, Brea. The exhibit includes 56 contemporary art works in painting, drawing, and sculpture.

The works were selected by a panel of three jurors, Thelma de Goede Smith of Anaheim, George James, also from Anaheim, and Jess Dominguez of Placentia.

Preview 75 is the first professional show to be held in Brea. Many works in the exhibit are from top artists in the Southern California area. Accepted works have come from as far away as Santa Barbara to the North, and San Ysidro to the South as well as many from Orange and Los Angeles Counties. The Brea Art Association is sponsoring the juried show and hopes to make it an annual event.

The exhibit will be open to the public through the month of February with hours from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 12 to 2 p.m. on Saturdays. The exhibit will not be open on Sundays.

Chamber Sets Breakfast

The forum will be held in the meeting room of the Placentia-Linda Community Hospital on Thursday, February 13 at 7:30 a.m. with adjournment promptly at 8:30 a.m.

Complimentary Continental Breakfast will be served by the hospital.

WHAT'S IN STORE
THE GOOD EGG

Can you think of many products that can be used as the principle ingredient in appetizers, main courses and desserts? Probably not. But the humble egg can create dishes from soufflés to hors d'oeuvres to flaming crêpes and satisfy the palate of the most discriminating epicure. Yet, the egg is one of the least expensive and nearly perfect sources of protein. Except for those few who must limit their cholesterol intake, eggs should not be overlooked as a "regular" in the diet.
Alpha Beta has especially good buys on eggs now, so perhaps you will want to experiment with some new egg recipes. How about sweet crepes for dessert? These can be made days ahead, individually wrapped in plastic or foil and frozen. Sweetened and flavored fillings of whipped cream and cream cheese or fruit can be added after the crepe is gently warmed in the oven.
Delicate Sweet Crepes
1 cup sifted flour; 1 Tbsp. sugar; ⅛ tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. nutmeg; 3 eggs; 1½ cup milk; 2 Tbsp. butter, melted
Stir together dry ingredients. Beat eggs, add milk and melted butter. Add all at once to flour mixture, beating until smooth. Allow to stand for one hour. For each crepe, pour 2 Tbsp. batter into a hot, lightly buttered 6-inch skillet. Rotate the pan quickly to spread the batter as thinly and evenly as possible. Cook the crepe for about 1 minute on one side. Flip it over and cook it for another minute on the other side. Remove and keep warm in oven if to be used immediately.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By John Payne
Owner-Reg. Pharmacist

Americans spend proportionately so little on medicine it's unbelievable...they're ridiculously healthy, it seems! Somehow they only spend about $6 billion with drugstores every year. And, believe it or not, that's really not so much.

Americans also manage to dole out the following in other areas: About $100 billion for food, $75 billion for transportation, $35 billion for recreation, $30 billion for medical care (not including drugs), and $15 billion for personal items (toilet articles, beauty and barber shops).

For the very best in drug quality, prescription service and health care items, you can always depend on us. Make LINDA VISTA PHARMACY your health headquarters. We have natural vitamins and health food supplements.

HANDY HINT: Never allow fresh meats to remain in paper or paper trays. The paper absorbs juice.

School Bond Meetings Set

Information sessions about the $20 million school bond election scheduled March 4 will be held at six elementary schools in the Placentia Unified School District in the coming week.

Sponsored by the Citizens School Bond Committee, the sessions are designed to inform voters about the need for bonds for building schools and to prepare volunteers to work in support of the issue, explained Tom Blinn, coordinator of area activities.

Meetings already scheduled included one at Ruby Drive Elementary Monday, with others at Van Buren Elementary on Thursday, Feb. 6; Sierra Vista on Monday, Feb. 10; Glenknoll and Wagner elementaries on Tuesday, Feb. 11; and Brookhaven Elementary on Thursday, Feb. 13. All meetings will be at 7:30 p.m.

"This is an excellent opportunity to find out what the school bond question is all about," Blinn said.

The bond campaign chairperson from each area will be at the meetings, along with a member of the central coordinating meeting.

The Citizens School Bond Committee hopes to hold information sessions in each elementary attendance area in the Placentia Unified School District. Speakers are available to talk to any community group on the issue, and may be contacted by calling the chairman of the speakers bureau, Jim Leonard, at 524-6415.

Passage of the bond issue will assure the fast-growing school district of adequate construction funds for the next five years by permitting district participation in the State School Building Program.

Under the state program, the local building tax rate is held to an average of 80cents per $100 assessed valuation, the rate local patrons have been paying since 1962. The district currently is obligated to pay the 80-cent rate through 1988. The additional $20 million bond authorization would continue it through 1993.

"With this district's average growth of 1,066 students a year since 1963, it is extremely important for parents to know the necessity of passing the bonds to avoid crowded schools in the very near future," Blinn said.

"The bond program is a good deal for local taxpayers and an absolute necessity to continue the quality education we want for our children," he added.

Pomona First Federal New Lending

Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association now is lending on good single-family residences located within its normal lending areas, according to an announcement by William F. Montgomery, President. Since the first part of December, 1974, interest rates have moderated somewhat which should act as a stimulus to real estate sales, and the Association is looking toward a stronger real estate market in 1975.

Pomona First Federal is actively seeking VA and FHA loans in addition to its conventional loan program. Approximately one-third of its loan funds will be channeled into new construction. Financing of selected multi-family residences and a limited number of commercial properties will also be given consideration.

Loans for property improvements, such as patios, swimming pools, room additions, and for the purchase of mobile homes are available through its Consumer Loan Department.

Montgomery said, "Net savings inflow so far this year have been good. A continuation of this trend will make 1975 a good year for the local real estate market and Pomona First Federal."

'Heart And Soul Of It' Presented By Chorale

"Help Keep Your Junkyard Beautiful - Throw Away Something Lovely". This graffiti and other slogans, set to music, will be among the selections presented in concert Saturday night, February 15 at 8:15 p.m. by the Orange County Master Chorale. Under the direction of Dennis Houser of Yorba Linda the chorale will present "Music - The Heart And Soul Of It". Exploring American folk and spiritual music as well as contemporary they will present negro spirituals "I Will Arise", "Ain't Got Time To Die", "Steal Away" and "Sometimes I Feel Like A Motherless Child". Others sung will be selections from "The Music Man", "Those Were The Days", "Aura Lee", "Amazing Grace" and "The Battle Hymn Of The Republic". The women of the chorale will sing "Scarborough Fair", "Johnny's Gone For A Soldier" and "Rise Up My Love". The men will sing "This Old Hammer" and the Luboff arrangement of "The Lone Prairie". In addition the OCMC's "Chamber Chorale" will perform.

Assisting in the directing will be associate director Ron Browne of Garden Grove who toured with the chorale in Europe last summer. Browne, one of the original Dapper Dans of Disneyland stated "Both as a singer and director I find the wide variety of music performed by our people exciting and stimulating. Working with Dennis Houser who can take the musicians from the master works to the lighter pops, jazz or whimsical is a treat. One of the songs we will sing, hopefully with a straight face, is the folk song 'Go Tell Aunt Rodie' and deals with the sad tale of explaining her old gray goose is dead, having drowned in the millpond. Everyone should enjoy this concert."

Individual adult tickets are $2.50; students $1.50. Season tickets for all three remaining concerts in Orange County are available at a discount as are group sales for 20 or more. Tickets are available at the North Orange County College Community Bookstore, 1000 N. Lemon, Fullerton, through the Orange County Master Chorale business office, (phone 537-8571) or at the box office of the Fullerton Jr. College Campus Theater where the concert will be held.

Ebell Sets Fifth Field Day

The Fifth Annual Special Education Field Day for children will be held on Thursday, February 6 at Golden Elementary School, 740 Golden Avenue in Placentia. The activities will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until approximately 1:30 p.m.

The field event will involve about 150 special education children ranging in age from four to 13. Participating will be Educable Mentally Retarded (EMR) and Trainable Mentally Retarded (TMR) students from the Anaheim, La Habra, Magnolia, Placentia and Yorba Linda school districts.

Members of the Junior Ebell Club of Fullerton are sponsoring this event for the fifth consecutive year. The project was begun four years ago by the club's mental health committee as part of its "Project Awareness' program. This is a continuing effort to acquaint the public with mental retardation. The Field Day offers the children an opportunity to compete and be challenged. It also provides a day for them to socialize in an exciting, fun atmosphere.

Working with the Junior Club is Mrs. Jane Hall, adaptive physical education teacher at Golden Elementary. She will be in charge of coordinating the field activities. Events will include overhand throw, broad jump, 50 yard dash, jumping skills, trampoline, "parachute" game, target throw, tumbling, balancing beam, and a coffee can race.

The Fullerton Juniors will provide approximately 30 members to help with the events in addition to providing punch and cookies as a break time snack. The children will be asked to bring their own sack lunch to enjoy outdoors. Several students from the Mentally Gifted Minor program from the Placentia district will also be on hand to assist the teachers and club members with moving the children through the ten events.

A local high school photography class will take pictures and will donate the photos for future use in the special education program.

The Juniors have spent the last few months coordinating this activity by gathering balloons, ribbons, superballs and badges. They have also made arrangements for coupons for donuts, hamburgers and pizzas to be donated and these will be distributed among all the children participating. Hughes Aircraft again donated $50 to be used specifically for the event. Another donation of $25 from the Fullerton Junior Chamber of Commerce will also be used for the Field Day activities. The Junior clubwomen plan to provide a special prize to each classroom participating for the children to use in a group activity after the Field Day.

Eileen Denny, mental health chairman and Jeannie Bloom, project chairman are being assisted on the Field Day by members of the mental health committee. Other members from the club and the teachers present will join together to again ensure the success of the Special Education Field Day.

BALLOONS AWAY--Balloons have been in the news lately and Edgardo Marestaing's sixth grade class at Sierra Vista Elementary School, Placentia decided to try their luck with the hot air missles. Several got off the ground, one burned in flight and a few made it over the wall. Here Kim Sharp holds the top while Marestaing guides the heated air inside.

Up...up...and away!

KATIE'S COLUMN or DOWN ON THE FARM

by Kay Starr

Alright, who's the wise-guy who has been messing around with the thermostat? Whoever you are, you can quit right now. I'm so confused about what time of year it is, and so are my plants. The poor pomegranate is bursting its buds. Back, get back in, I keep telling them. It's not time yet. It's not spring. Get back in there you silly things. (They listen just like my children.)

My confusion has to do more with what to wear. Clothes, I know, but what? Last week I spent two days pruning trees at a friends farm in Riverside. I was so bundled up in two sweaters and a jacket that I could hardly bend my arms to work. This week I had just a light-weight T-shirt with short sleeves and had to take salt tablets to counteract the sweat pouring from underneath my sun hat. Crazy California.

One who is not confused by the changes in weather is "Snoopy". It wouldn't matter to him if it were raining, hailing, snowing or what, now that he has the cast removed from his leg. As far as he is concerned it is back to the same old games again, chasing the cats and the rabbits and whatever else crosses his vision. He's still a little hampered by the front leg that suffered nerve damage, but that only slows him down slightly. The cats are climbing to the rafter like before.

Because this is the time of the year to clear out last year's mess and begin with a more-or-less clean slate, I enthusiastically redid my desk top. There is still a whole bunch of junk on it, but the things that I didn't want or need went into the round file. During this time of sorting, I inadvertantly went too far and threw out my daughter's address of her home in Oakland. Since my younger two are staying with her while I go the tree-growers meeting in Berkeley, I hastily scribbled a note to her in care of her school. No word from her, so I finally decided that no matter, we would just drive up and down the streets of Oakland calling ner name. She did finally call, however, I was relegated to getting information second-hand as my son decided that since I couldn't manage to keep his sister's address once, then I shouldn't be trusted to have it this time. Well, like I said, I can just see us going up and down the streets of Oakland calling my daughter's name. And I can't even blame my troubles on the weather, unless I could manage a tornado whipping through the apartment. I think it might rain this weekend.

TONY ORLANDO SHOW

My husband and I have enjoyed watching the new T.V. show, Tony Orlando and Dawn, so we wrote to CBS for tickets. If anyone is thinking of doing the same, you had better read this first.

After approximately six weeks, the tickets arrived. I had requested eight, and received four, with a note explaining that there was a big demand for tickets and the supply was limited. Rules and warnings printed on the tickets included, no one under 16 admitted, show up one half hour before show time, and the "biggy", tickets do not guarantee seats, seats are on a first come, first serve, basis.

On Sunday afternoon we headed for Hollywood with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Halzle of Garden Grove. Show time was 4:15 p.m., so we left Placentia at 1 p.m. We arrived at CBS at 2 p.m. and observed two lines of about 70 people. To my surprise, there are semi professional T.V. goers, people who stand in the parking lot asking for extra tickets.

One of the lines was for "Tattletales", the other, for Tony Orlando. We quickly got in line and talked about how exciting it would be to see the show, especially the finale, where Tony goes into the audience and gets everyone involved singing.

Our line continued to grow, and at 3 p.m. we were moved around the corner of the building. Ah, anticipation, as a page counted with a clicker and assured us we would get in. People in line who obviously had done this before, had snacks and drinks with them.

Then at 3:45 a funny thing happened. Another line appeared next to us with something stamped on their tickets. Suspicion grew in the ranks and a page announced, "Remember, your tickets say seating is not guaranteed. We have production people, special guests, friends and relatives of Tony Orlando, who get preferential seating". Several people expressed their hopes that Tony had been an orphan with very few relatives. The "preferred" people in the new line were led in. Then our line started to move. They stopped our line at four people in front of us.

Who would have guessed Tony had so many friends, or was from a super big family? The rest of our line listened as the page announced, "We are waiting to see if any more special guests or production people are coming, if there are any seats left, you will get them. Some of the seats are up in front where special guests sit."

Imagine if you will, the mood of a line of people who have been waiting two hours as they see people walk up and go straight through to the studio, knowing each one represents a lost seat. CBS should have an underground tunnel or special entrance for the "chosen few".

At 4:10 eight of us made it in, it was close. Others left in line were offered raincheck tickets so they could be in the special line next time. We sat in the next to last row, and I could have used a booster seat. I'm sure the stretching was good for my spine and I'm probably one inch taller now.

A T.V. studio resembles a gymnasium with ceiling racks full of lights and equipment. The warmup man came out and told his best jokes. From the audience, a lady from Wisconsin volunteered her best jokes. A shining example. "A man gave a boy a ride, he said thanks. The man said, don't mention it, the boy said, I won't." That was the way things were going.

Tony Orlando came out, introduced one of the guests, Art Carney, and things started to pick up. He told us this was a dress rehearsal, and seemed as personable and friendly as he does on television. We saw some skits and Tony Orlando and Dawn sang. When the applause sign lit up, we all applauded furiously. I was really looking forward to that finale number.

At six o'clock the stage manager said, "O.K. wrap it up until 7, break for dinner". But where was the finale et al? "Oh, that's at tonight's taping", a page said. We left the studio to find another line of hopefuls (who had another hour to wait) and a very large "special line". They must have been royalty to get tickets for the night taping and finale number.

So be forewarned, if you yearn to see the Tony Orland Show, better send scouts to get at the end of the line so you'll get raincheeks for the special line. As for the night taping, try to get adopted by the Orlandos. Tony is married and has two sons, and millions of cousins!

J. Cash Film Scheduled

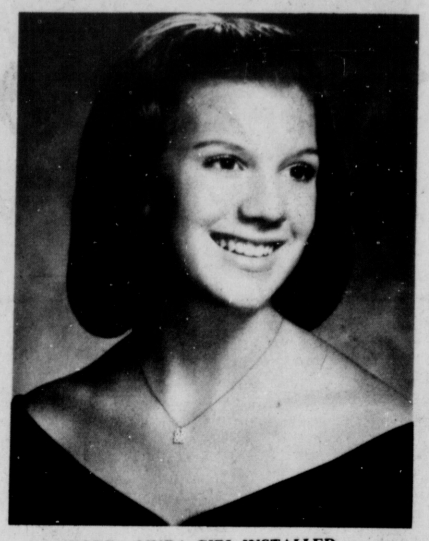
The film "The Gospel Road" will be shown on Sunday, Feb. 9, at the Placentia Nazarene Church, beginning at 6 p.m.

"The Gospel Road", distributed by World Wide Pictures, was conceived and produced by Johnny Cash and his wife, June Carter Cash, whose desire was to tell the story of Jesus Christ in a realistic and meaningful way.

The Placentia Nazarene Church is located at Chapman Avenue and Walnut Street, in Placentia. The community is invited to view the film and there is no admission charge. Nursery facilities are provided by the church. For additional information, contact the Nazarene Church.

The film is a unique blend of scripture-based narrative, an abundant supply of specially written songs, and a series of in-depth character portrayals, with Israel itself as the mixing bowl.

Adding to the effectiveness of "The Gospel Road" in its endeavor to convey reality for this day are: the fascinating treatment of the Crucifixion, making this tragedy an event of significance that reaches from its own time across the years to take on meaning for all men of all ages; and the songs and background music of Johnny Cash and other outstanding musicians, whose contemporary style is not out of keeping with the story...a story that reveals that His darkest day has become our brightest.



YORBA LINDA GIRL INSTALLED

In colors of white, mint, and emerald green, the officers of Orange Assembly Number 86, International Order of Rainbow for Girls, were installed Sunday, January 26, 1975, at 2:00 P.M., in the Orange Masonic Temple. Her theme for the occasion was "Immortality, God's Greatest Gift."

Seniors Set Feb 11 Potluck

Our next General Meeting and Pot Luck Luncheon will be held in the United Methodist Church, Yorba Linda Tuesday February 11, at 12:30 p.m. Besides the delicious food that the good people of Yorba Linda bring, Seniors will have a program speaker from Attorney General Evelle Youngers' office of the Department of Justice, Los Angeles. James Norris a Field Deputy will speak on "Consumer Fraud" together with showing a movie entitled "On Guard". He is a young accomplished, enthusiastic speaker and his subject will be timely and of special interest to Senior Citizens.

Library Showcase

The Children's department is featuring a number of interesting and colorful exhibits during the month of February.

Of special interest to many Yorba Linda youngsters will be the equestrian display provided by local rider and trainer Theresa Powell and the Yorba Linda Hardware. It includes grooming equipment and tack necessary for the proper care of an animal, also a life-size mannequin outfitted in full Western gear. On display, too, are many of the ribbons and prizes acquired by Theresa in equestrian shows and competitions.

Art work also abounds. Mrs. Rayburn's kindergarteners (Van Buren School) have given imagination full rein in illustrating "my favorite story", while Mrs. Mann's second graders (Richard Nixon School) have expressed themselves in the more sophisticated media of collage. The staff of the Children's department has also "gotten into the act" with a patriotic display.

Suitable art work, collections and hobbies are always welcome for exhibit by both the Children's and Adult's departments. If you have something to share with the community, contact the Yorba Linda library, 529-7039.

Bellydancing For Fun--- And Exercise

"Ladies, why not learn to dance, have fun and get needed exercise all at the same time?" says local recreation supervisor Ken Sparks.

You can obtain all these benefits through the Belly Dancing class sponsored by the Yorba Linda Recreation Department. The class starts on February 13 and will meet each Thursday from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. at Yorba Linda Junior High School for eight weeks.

Those interested must register at City Hall. The registration fee is $15.00 for the entire session. For further information call 524-5020.

El Dorado Chased At Top

By Brian Hilderbrand

El Dorado's seemingly unstoppable basketball team was surprised by Brea as the Wildcats brought the Hawks Orange League win streak to a sudden halt by an overtime score of 76-74 last Friday night. The Hawks also played Esperanza last Tuesday and dropped the Aztecs, 78-61.

El Dorado remains at the top of the League, however, with Brea second.

The Aztecs came close to the Hawks several times as they only trailed by five points at the half, 34-29, but the Hawks came back from the intermission and scored 16 points in the third period. The Aztecs came up with nine points in the same period as the Hawks lead 50-38 at the start of the final period.

Aided partly by Kevin Heenan's excellent marksmanship, the Hawks exploded for 28 points against the Aztec's 23, to ensure ED of their seventh Orange League win against no losses, pulling two games ahead of the Brea-Olinda Wildcats.

Leading the scoring attack for the Hawks were Kevin Heenan with 26 and Blake Withers with 23 points. Mike Sedan added 10 points. ED was 34 for 74 from the floor, and 10 of 12 from the free throw line.

Leading the Aztecs with total points was Paul Peterson with 18, Steve Baskin put in 15, and Steve Mead added 12 of the points to the losing cause. Esperanza was 20 for 46 off the floor, and 23 for 29 from the line. El Dorado committing 23 personal fouls. Tyrone Branyan and Bob Farra both fouled out in the contest for the Hawks.

Friday night the Orange League leaders fell to Brea in one of the most exciting games the Hawks have played all season, going into over-time. The Wildcats proved too strong for ED, and the third meeting of the two teams, the rubber game of the match, should be the climax of the season.

Brea's biggest lead of the night was 13 points, 53-40, just before the end of the third quarter. Then ED coach put in Mike Sedan, a 6 foot 6 inch center, and in 12 minutes, three of those in over-time, he hit nine of 10 shots, to come back to a 68-66 score. At the buzzer, Blake Withers made a follow-up basket to tie the score at 68-68.

Brea had a chance to ice the game when they had a 67-66 lead. On a pair of fouls, on a technical, the Wildcats made only one of the four free shots. Mike Lowe made the first of a one-and-one, giving Brea a 68-66 lead. Lowe then missed the second shot.

Dan Hanson, who was deadly with his shots all night, had a chance to make two shots on a technical penalty. He missed the pair of throws, but Brea got the ball out of bounds.

John Crawford and Withers doubled up on Lowe, and fouled him. Lowe missed the shot. Kevin Heenan shot with five seconds remaining to play, and missed. Withers then grabbed the rebound the made the tying basket at the buzzer, the ED crowd displayed their obvious enthusiasm, jumping up and down and yelling.

But they lost it in the over-time period, on one basket and six free throws by Brea. El Dorado scored on two baskets and four free throws.

High scorer for Brea was Dan Hanson with 25 points. Barry Weston added 20 points, and Mike Lowe put in 13. Brea was 31 for 60 off the floor, and 14 for 21 off the line.

El Dorado's high scorer was Kevin Heenan with 20. Mike Sedan put in 18, and Tyrone Branyan added 17 points. The Hawks were 35 for 72 off the floor, and only four of seven from the free throw line.

The Hawks remain on top of OL, with Brea in second, hoping that one of the remaining teams on the slate will upset ED, and enabling the Wildcats to tie for first.

El Dorado opened a five-game home stand Tuesday night, playing the first game with Canyon. Sonora visits Thursday night, and Valencia plays the Hawks Friday night at 8 p.m.

ED's record in league play is 7-1, and an over-all record of 13-3. The third game of the three game series with Brea will be at El Dorado Friday February 14, at 8 p.m.

Aztecs Tame Tigers---With Trouble

By Mark Tronske

The Esperanza Aztecs still showed signs of carelessness even though they did tame the Valencia Tigers, 63-47. The game was played in the Valencia gym.

Esperanza was expecting to have an easy match against the Tigers because Valencia has performed so poorly this season. This was not the case though, as the Tigers kept pace with the Aztecs for most of the game.

The game started off rather well for the Aztecs as they were ahead of the Tigers 15-8 at the close of the first period. But in the second stanza Valencia was matching the Aztecs basket for basket. A trio of Tigers were hitting baskets consistently. Included in the trio were Bob Zamora, Dwight Mater, and Tom Titlefitz. Meanwhile, the only Aztec starter who could score with any regularity was Paul Peterson. Valencia outscored the Aztecs in the second period 16-15. Esperanza still held the lead at halftime, 30-24.

The game continued to be pretty evenly matched as the two teams got back on the court in the third segment. It was apparent that the Aztecs weren't going to run away from the Tigers. Esperanza's offense was just too sluggish for anything like that to happen in the period. Both teams tallied twelve points in the third stanza to make the scoreboard read, 42-36 in favor of Esperanza.

Play continued at the same pace for the first few minutes of the fourth period. But finally Esperanza's offense got hot. Spurred by the shotgun shooting of sub Dale Rideau and starter Paul Peterson things started to look mighty sweet for the Aztecs. The Esperanza defense tightened and put the squeeze on the Tigers as Valencia could bucket only eleven points in the final segment. The Aztecs tossed in a total of twenty-one points during the same period of time. The final score was Esperanza--63, Valencia--47.

Top scorers in the game for Valencia were Bob Zamora (15 points), Tittlefitz (10 points), and Dwight Mater (12 points). Esperanza's main offensive weapons were Dale Rideau (20 points), Paul Peterson (22 points), and Jay Burrows (8 points).

Earlier in the week Esperanza was tripped by the El Dorado Golden Hawks, 78-61. Both teams played a very sloppy brand of basketball in the first half. However, El Dorado settled down in the second half, out-scoring the Aztecs 44-34 during those final two periods. Most of the Aztecs' problems were created because of poor ball handling and wild passing. El Dorado is the type of team that will take advantage of mistakes--and that is exactly what they did in the second half when the Aztec defense was practically "eaten alive".

El Dorado's top scorers were Kevin Heenan (26 points), Blake Withers (23 points), and Mike Sherbeck (10 points). Esperanza's high point men were Paul Peterson (18), Steve Baskin (15), Steve Mead (12), and Jay Burrows (10).

After completing their fourth week of basketball action, the Esperanza Aztecs possess a 2-6 record, and are currently in fifth place in the Orange League standings.

Newcomers Plan Dance

Romantic will be the word to describe the evening awaiting members and friends of the Placentia-Yorba Linda Newcomers Club at their annual dinner dance on February 15.

"Cupid's Caper" will feature a prime rib dinner and dancing to the music of The Paul Zen Quartet, all under the shimmer of the magnificent chandeliers in the Chrystal Ballroom of the Hilton Inn in Fullerton.

Greeting theguests will be the club officers and their husbands: President Debbie Chaput, first vice president, Peggy McWilliams; second vice president, Marsha Easterbrook; secretary, Pat Holub; and treasurer, Sue Jones.

Coordinating introductions will be the welcoming chairman, Zoe Long, and decorations will be provided through the combined talents of Heather Laporte and Pat Gillis. Reservations must be made by February 7 by contacting Sue Jones.

Upcoming events in March include an evening of beauty, a white elephant silent auction, and car rally. Anyone interested in joining the club please contact Jerry Woodman at 528-7022.

Band/Drill Boosters To Meet

The Esperanza Aztec Band and Drill Team Booster Club will have its next meeting Wednesday, February 5, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will take place in the Teachers' Lounge, in the Administration Building near the lunch area.

The Board of Directors will present its plans for future fund-raising activities. These will include such events as a rummage sale, paper drives, a "Dime-a-dip" dinner, and a St. Patrick's Day dance.

"The Booster Club needs help with these ideas and plans to raise money for the band and drill team uniforms, instruments and excursions. Please attend this important meeting," noted a club spokesman.

Firemen Answer 330 Calls

The Placentia Fire Department recently released information regarding the second quarterly report for Fiscal Year 1974-75.

According to Chief James Sims, the department responded on a total of 330 emergencies. Twenty five of these responses were classified as structural fires.

One of the most significant structure fires occurred at 350 East Orangethorpe causing an estimated $8,000 loss to buildings and contents. Another structural fire occurred on Dunn Way when an explosion and fire occurred, causing as estimated $70,000 damage.

The most serious fire occurred on December 26th at 116 W. Santa Fe Avenue. This fire caused two persons to lose their lives.

Chief Sims indicated that the loss factor was down by 41 per cent as compared to this time last year. The total estimated loss this time last year was $265,992; however, this year to date the estimated loss is $155,965.

The department responded on other type calls such as: grass and rubbish--36; vehicle fires--12; false alarms--40; accidental alarms--16; medical aids--94; resuscitator calls--30; service calls--72 and alarms out of City--3.

Again, Chief Sims calls attention to good, safe practices around the home or business as extremely important to the safety of life and property. There are several good warning devices on the market that will sound an alarm when sensing smoke. Many of these devices are approved by the State Fire Marshal and recommended by the Fire Department, the Chief reports.

All-American Band Visits In All America City

Craig Incontro, of Placentia, brought a few friends to lunch last week--101 of them to be exact.

Craig and his friends make up the famed McDonald's All-American Band which marched for the seventh consecutive year in the Rose Parade.

They stopped for lunch at McDonald's of Placentia at 164 East Yorba Linda Boulevard. Owner Jim Frisbie was thrilled to host the All-American Band, but was even prouder of the fact that Craig Incontro also works at his Placentia McDonald's. Craig's fellow workers made a special sign in honor of Craig and the band.

The McDonald's all-American Band, under the direction of Mr. Paul Lavalle, former Director of New York's Radio City Music Hall, also marched in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade for the seventh consecutive year. No other bands have marched in both parades for that many consecutive years.

The band is composed of two top high school musicians of each state and two from Washington D.C. Over 30,000 musicians are nominated each year for the honor.

Craig Incontro is certainly an All-American musician. Besides playing tenor sax for the Valencia High School marching band and concert band, he also performs with a group at Fullerton College. He was a member of the California All State Honor Band and the All Southern California Honor Band.

Eastmond Elected

The Orange County Chapter Sons of the American Revolution has elected T. Larned Eastmond of Placentia as its president.

The meeting was held in the Library of Constitution Hall at Knott's Berry Farm.

Miss Hamrick In "Fiddler On Roof" Cast

Barbara Hamrick, Placentia, will appear in the dance chorus when the popular musical, "Fiddler on the Roof", opens at The Playhouse in Orange on February 5.

It will feature 30 of Orange County's finest musical-comedy talents, according to Richard Dow, artistic director of Pacific Academy for the Performing Arts (P.A.P.A.).

In the lead role of Tevye, the dairyman, is Don J. Freeman of Fullerton, with Zoreene Burlin of Santa Ana as Golde, Tevye's wife of 25 years.

Tickets are now on sale at The Playhouse box office, 172 N. Glassell Street, Orange. For further information, call 639-7971.

Richfield Widening Completed

The widening of Richfield Road, south of Orangethorpe Avenue and adjacent to the new Atwood Park, has been completed, Placentia City Engineer, Ben Minamide, reported this week.

The cost of the construction is $65,988.76 on the low bid to E.L. White Company, Inc. of Orange.

from herbie's corner

by Jack Scarpa

More and more we are hearing about the alien problem. Our local Police Department put out a voluminous report which the Placentia City Council endorsed with high praise and sent to various lawmakers in Sacramento and Washington.

Just what is the difference between an illegal alien and a naturalized citizen? A piece of paper? Take a citizen of Mexico with a dream of going to California, a land of opportunity. He applies and after a pay-off of an official or two, he wins the coveted document.

His neighbor has the same dream but he doesn't have the money for the pay-offs, bribes or whatever; perhaps he is of a moral character that won't do it. He gathers together his belongings, tells his wife and children good-bye. He assures them he will write and send money, and he is gone in the dark of night to slip across the border with a few dollars in his pocket. He faces a strange land with strange customs and he can't speak the language. He is risking his all to make things better for himself and his family.

This man is just one of the people who come with little money but strong and eager bodies, willing to work at the most menial of jobs to gain a foothold in this country. They have a dream. No one denies their stoic courage, nor their willingness to accept all manner of abuse.

You see them on Friday night, at the local post office, dirty and sweaty from toiling in the fields, with their meagre week's earnings clutched in their hands. They wait patiently to buy a money order and send it by registered mail back to their families who wait for this, their sole contact with the man of the family.

Many responsible officials are calling these people dangerous. I don't see it. I see the social ramifications of this alien with his dreams; the drain of American dollars to Mexico, the unwillingness of the aliens to report crimes or be a witness in the court room and it is true that he may usurp the job of a citizen. Yes, these are problems.

But as the Fiddler on the Roof would say, "On the other hand..."

These impossible aliens with their impossible dreams fill jobs most Americans would not consider taking. Stoop labor and hot, heavy jobs in steel foundries are among their normal occupations. Everytime this alien makes a purchase he is a taxpayer. He asks for little. He wants above all to be anonymous. Employers who hire them find their attitude to be one of eager willingness. These are the people who are being condemned as a menace.

They are a people with a dream and the courage to fight for that dream. It's the stock of brave people and it was on people like this that our country became the great country it is today.
